

Hygiene Specialist Proposal

JR&Co are here to support your back to school, term time plans and requirements. Not only do we and will we continue to deliver a cleaning service that ensures your site is presented to the highest standard; through our Hygiene Specialists, we will support the logistics of your return whilst maximising hygiene and sanitisation standards for your teachers and pupils throughout each working day.

Julius Rutherfoord have been practising the science of touch point cleaning since 1999 when we started cleaning our first school. In 2009 we were able to prove the effectiveness of this approach when we commenced cleaning 26 schools in the London Borough of Merton.

In the years prior to us cleaning these schools on average 20% of the schools had Norovirus outbreaks every winter. Since the outset of our contract, over 12 years ago, not a single school has had an outbreak of Norovirus.

In applying the same practices to combatting Coronavirus, we have created the Hygiene Specialist role to maximise our support to your Property and Facilities Management team, teachers and pupils.

Fundamentally, the role blends the worlds of hospitality and cleaning. Their function will provide absolute peace of mind, comfort and reassurance to your stakeholders. Further benefits include:

Element	Benefit
Providing continually visible sanitisation services	Site users will be at ease in their working environment and a safe operational space will be created
Regular touch point cleaning	Minimising contamination points across site, ensuring ultimate protection
Alignment with your Property and Facilities Management team	Supporting your approach for all teachers and students to adhere to all relevant Covid guidelines and best practice

We already deliver similar services to several of our education clients by providing over 2,100 weekly hours, at over 40 premises. It's though our approach to excellence and development of best practice that we have been able to guarantee the safety of all site users, minimise Covid outbreaks and provide a continually positive learning and working environment.

It's this positive impact, combined with continued learnings from delivering these services in high footfall, dynamic and critical environments that underpins this offer.

Verifying the quality of our output, our client at West Thames College commented:

"I just wanted to take the opportunity to say a very big 'THANK YOU' to you and all of your team for all the cleaning services they have provided in the LRC throughout the Autumn Term.

They have helped to ensure that the LRC always looks clean and tidy as well as making it a safe environment to work in with regards to the issue of COVID.

I usually see members of the cleaning team first thing in the morning and during the day and they are always friendly and willing to help and have also assisted when I have had some specific requests for cleaning that needed to be dealt with immediately.

On my behalf can you please pass on my message of thanks and wish them all a healthy and prosperous New Year"

Shaun Dale, Estate Manager

The Hygiene Specialist(s) allocated to your site will be managed within our core operational structure. This guarantees consistency of management approach and facilitates the continued development of our operational relationship with you.

We also understand the challenge facing many schools in rolling out mass testing, as per the government guidelines. To support this our Hygiene Specialists are trained to work alongside you in meeting these requirements, ensuring a seamless testing structure is implemented. Support can include overseeing and administering teacher and student testing, managing teacher/student flows and social distancing around testing facilities, the set up and take down of testing facilities, the disposal of used testing kits and the continual sanitising of testing areas. By working alongside you and through supporting your approach, we can relieve pressure on your teams and ensure a robust testing strategy is implemented.

Pricing for the service is based on two distinct options.

Contract Variation/New Contract Option:

- The Hygiene Specialist will be a permanent member of the site team and will accrue rights in contract in line with any other permanent member of staff
- The Hygiene Specialist will work to specific hours that best work for achieving your aims
- Should any change to the Hygiene Specialist service be required, this will be in line with our contractual terms and conditions

Fully Flexible Option:

- The Hygiene Specialist can be instigated and removed from site with only 72 working hours' notice

- The same or equivalently skilled individual will be provided to site, when requested

Through our conversations across our client base, it is felt that we may not truly return to pre-Covid normal world until well into 2022. The implementation of JR&Co's Hygiene Specialists, from the moment of return, will not only smooth your transition back but will ensure that you can achieve your aims and protect your stakeholders from day 1.
